

Terms of use

By using this site, you agree to be bound by the terms.

This is a UK web site for use by customers in Northern Ireland only.

External links lead to sites outside our environment which are not under our control and may have their own policies.

You must never give passwords to anyone not directly responsible for your services.

Megganet reserve the right to modify our web sites, change information on it etc..

You will keep harmless, defend, and indemnify Megganet against any claims, losses, costs and liabilities arising from any claims by any third party, in connection with the use or misuse of this site in breach of the Terms.

Megganet does not accept any losses what so ever from any fault or misuse of the service provided.

Megganet would be grateful if errors found on this website are reported to telecoms@megganet.com ASAP for correction.

If there are any significant amendments to this document, we will notify you on your bill or by email.